Management of Electronic Resources and Services

09

Shaikh Shabeena Shakeel
Ph.D Research Scholar (Registration No:- 28822019)
JJT University Rajasthan

Introduction

A Collection of resources that are made accessible to the public for use of a by individuals is referred to as a library. These resources included books, periodicals, journals, manuscripts, maps, films and music among other things Libraries may be located in a wide variety of locations such as education institutions public building private organization and universities providing its patrons with access to information and knowledge as well as pursuits research endeavours and leisure pursuits it the major objective of a library organization. Libraries have been around for thousands of years and some of the known libraries date back to ancient thimes, As time has progressed libraries have expanded their offerings to indude a diverse array of forms and technology ranging form the conventional printed books to digital media and internet services

Electronic Resources

The consumers of data, information, and knowledge have benefited from the usage their of electronic resources provide Users with increased accessibility improved usability and axcellent afficany while they are looking for information the value of electronic resources grew in tradem with the growing number of consumers who made resources use of these resources.

Electronic resources are defined as materials that convey data assortment such as e-journals, picture assortment numerical database and other hypermedia with the help of a computer as state by Tamizhchelvan 2012 E-resources play a promising role in libraries at many points. The endless growth of e-resouces makes eddective management difficult 'Electronic Resource Management' system (ERMS) for evaluation selection acquisition renewal or cancellation of electronic resources contracts licenses access point copyright implemention and management of electronic resources (Patra and Nihar Kanta 2014).

Importants Of Electrocinc Resources And Library

The use of electronic resources is very important in contemporary libraries since they provide a multitude of benefits and advantages. The following are some of the most important factors that illustrate the significance of electronic resources in places like libraries. Electronic resources provide users access to a great quantity of information in a variety of forms, such as academic articles, research papers, e-books, daka bases, multimedia material, and many more other types of content. They provide users with the ability to explore a wide range of information in a straight forward and expedient manner, since they encompass a variety of topics and fields of study - Accessible at any time and form any location with an internet connection, electronic resources provide an univaled level of convenience. electronic resources are indispensable in contemporary library environments because they provide users with easy and all encompassing access to a vast amount of information, encourage research, make learning easier, and cater to the various requirements of library users.

- The need for electronic resources.
  a. The user has easy access to electronic resources
  b. save time for the user staff and library
  c. The resources have huge storage capacity.
  d. Familiarize the motivation of users to use e-resources.

e. Electronic resources save library space.

f. Promote efficient and "cost-effective delivery of information to all users.

- Research objectives.

1. To investigate the extent to which the central library has any electronic and management systems available.

2. To conduct an analysis of the virtual resources and services that is accessible via the central library.

3. supporting acquisition and management licensed e-resources

Characteristics of e-resources.

Borderless:-

with the help of internet e-resources are not limited to one place or country but accessible throughout the world.

Round the clock availability:-

A major advantages of e-resources is that people can gain access 24/7 to the information.

Multiple access:-

Any number of users can get access to the same resources simultaneously.

Conclusion :-

The success of modern academic libraries Depends on their efficiency in acquiring creating, managing and providing electronic information services contained in internal and external databases and websites Electronic information resources provide opportunities for libraries, professionals, and users. to access service and use them for scholarly and related Purpose Technological advancements bring new changes and modification to knowledge management in the form of electronic resources. Information has become a necessity for everyone. students, teachers, doctors, scientists, engineers, lawyers and professional need information reasons.

Electronic resources. content in digital digital resources. are Content in Digital or inelectronic format that is made available to library users through Online or Offline Computer systems. They are Generally describe as publication sources and access to electronic media it alins users to get then electronic resources via communication media accessible on the network (Intermet/Intranet) or offline via. CD-ROM, pen disk, hard disk etc. or dis Kette etc.

Reference:

1. Y. Hiremath, B.K. & Anand, K (2015). Mobile technology based information services in the digital world. International Journal of Development Research, 5(09).5474-5477.

2. Patra, N.K. (2017). Electronic resource management (ERM) in libraries of management instituates in india The Electronic library.

3. Sadeh, T. & Ellingsen, M. (2005). Electronic resource management systems the need and the realization, New library World, 106 (5/6), 208-218

4. Jones, W. (2003). A personal mini-history of e- serials cataloging. The serials. Librarians.

5. Meyer, S. (2005). Helping you buy? Electronic resource management systems Computers in libraries.